

Norwich Castle Museum and Art Gallery

To celebrate Norfolk Autism Acceptance Week, join us for Sensory Sunday on 7 April!

If you have pupils who'd like to visit Norwich Castle but would prefer to explore at a more relaxed pace, we'd love to welcome them and their families to the museum. We'll dim the lights and reduce video and audio where we can, and there'll be a comfy quiet space if anyone needs a few minutes out. Our friendly front of house team will be on hand to give them a warm welcome and to support their visit. There'll also be members of the Norfolk SENDIASS team in the Rotunda who'll be happy to chat. Sensory Sunday may particularly suit visitors who are neurodivergent and prefer a calmer, quieter sensory environment.

More information about access at Norwich Castle.

If you'd like a visual story or a text map of the museum, please contact norwichcastle.bookings@norfolk.gov.uk (Monday – Friday) ahead of your visit.

Norfolk
AUTISM
Acceptance Week

Book now

It pays to have a Norfolk Museums Pass - click here to find out more